

Development Aid Manual

Create a simple manual for an NGO or government that explains how to make development aid effective.

1. What is development aid?

- Write 2-3 sentences explaining what development aid is and why it is important. Think about who it helps and how.

2. What makes good development aid?

- List 3-5 qualities that make development aid effective. For example, it should be respectful, helpful, and involve the community. Explain why each quality is important in one sentence.

3. Goals of development aid:

- Write down 2-4 main goals that development aid should aim to achieve. These could include things like reducing poverty, improving education, or promoting health. Explain why each goal matters.

4. How to implement development aid:

- Describe 2-3 basic steps that should be taken to implement development aid. Think about how to involve local people and organizations in the process.

5. How to measure success:

- Suggest 1-2 simple ways to check if development aid is working. This could include asking for feedback from the community or looking at specific results.

6. Challenges to consider:

- Identify 1-2 challenges that might make it hard to deliver effective development aid. Think about things like cultural differences or political issues.

7. Presentation:

- Prepare to share your manual with the class. You can use canva or goodnotes, or a PowerPoint to help explain your ideas.

- Research: Use simple and reliable sources to find information. You can ask your teacher for help if needed.
- Group Work: Work in pairs or small groups to support each other.
- Visuals: Include pictures or diagrams if they help explain your points.
