

(1) One morning a man went for a walk. (2) Suddenly he saw a gigantic rope. (3) It was hanging from the sky. (4) The man was very curious, so he pulled. (5) He switched the daylight off and on. (6) At first he was shocked and jumped away. (7) But then he found it more and more interesting and did it again and again. (8) But he exaggerated and the switch suddenly did not work anymore. (9) It stayed dark. (10) The man panicked and pulled again several times. (11) When he pulled too hard, the rope came down. (12) In the dark you could hear cars crashing and people screaming. (13) The man knew that it was his fault and silently walked away. (14) He hoped that nobody would find out.